You can save tax dollars when you maximize your non-cash deductions. The IRS allows you to deduct the Fair Market Value (FMV) - that is, the price the item would sell for in a thrift shop. The quality and condition, as well as age must be taken into account. If you donated a large amount of goods, over $500 worth, please call our office as the IRS might require a form 8283. Don't forget to ask for a receipt!

The IRS requires a dated, written receipt for all cash and non-cash donations, as well as a written list of items donated, including their values.

Below is a list of items that are typically sold at the local Salvation Army or Goodwill Stores. If you do not see the item you donated, please call several thrift shops and ask what they would sell them for, or use the formula below:

The Salvation Army suggests using the original cost of an item at the time of purchase less 65% to 75% to determine FMV (Fair Market Value)
