

The Tourism and Hospitality Industry are collaborating on a new initiative designed to improve the capacity and capability of the workforce. With funding from both the Commonwealth government and industry the Workforce Futures programme brings a national network of experienced industry Skills Advisors to your business.

Right now, with direct input and support from industry, the Skills Advisor Network is being rolled out across the country. Skilled and qualified advisors will undertake industry specific evaluation of your business's workforce development and planning needs and offer support to help you respond to identified gaps. This detailed business diagnostic will help to inform you and assist you in planning for your workforce needs. The advisors will be sources of expertise in capacity development and a conduit to other sources of information for the business. Training needs and potential funding options will be identified as an outcome of the engagement process. Advisors will be able to refer on queries from businesses, such as industrial relations, business planning, financial management and marketing to qualified providers of advice such as Associations.

As a proud Workforce Futures partner, Birdwing Business Solutions has expert Skills Advisors available to assist you.
