Pastor: James J. Stefanie

We, the members of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, believing the Bible to be God's inspired and inerrant Word, acknowledging that Jesus Christ is Lord, and affirming that we are saved by Grace through faith in Him alone, offer the following as our statement of mission:

Empowered by the Holy Spirit and loving our neighbors as ourselves, we, as ambassadors for Christ, must strive to make disciples of all nations; Using the gifts the Lord has given to each of us, we must help the saints to grow in unity of faith through regular worship attendance, the partaking of the Sacraments, the study of God's Word, and by ministering to the spiritual needs of others; we will persevere in prayer and thanksgiving for all the opportunities and blessings which God places before us.

Confession

As The Head Of The Family Should Teach It In A Simple Way To His Household

How Christians should be taught to confess

What is Confession?

Confession has two parts. First, that we confess our sins, and second, that we receive absolution, that is, forgiveness, from the pastor as from God Himself, not doubting, but firmly believing that by it our sins are forgiven before God in heaven.

The folding of hands is, traditionally, the placing of hands palm to palm (as opposed to the interlocking of fingers). The celebrant and attendants at the Mass hold their hands this way whenever their hands are not otherwise occupied. People at prayer or approaching the altar may also fittingly have hands folded palm to palm.

To fold the hands palm to palm might well be considered the liturgical "clapping" of the hands, as it is written in Psalm 47, "Oh, clap your hands, all you peoples!" As everything is to be done decently and in order, as the Apostle also says, we do not indiscriminately clap our hands, as if to applaud, in the service. Such "clapping" is in our culture meant for showing appreciation or praise for someone. But since the Mass is not from our culture, but rather, has, as it were, a culture of its own, of praise in church. So we would not "clap" for God (nor certainly for anyone else) in the way that we clap at a concert. Rather, the Mass calls for a different kind of movement. The liturgical equivalent of such "clapping" is, simply, the folding of the hands palm to palm. Such "clapping" is always directed toward God.

But especially is this petition directed against our chief enemy, the devil, whose whole purpose and desire it is to take away or interfere with all we have received from God. He is not satisfied to obstruct and overthrow the spiritual order, by deceiving souls with his lies and bringing them under his power, but he also prevents and impedes the establishment of any kind of government or honorable and peaceful relations on earth. This why he causes so much contention, murder, sedition, and war, why he sends storms and hail to destroy crops and cattle, why he poisons the air, etc. In short it pains him that anyone should receive even a mouthful of bread from God and eat it in peace. If it were in his power and our prayer to God did not restrain him, surely we would not have a straw in the field, a penny in the house, or even an hour more of life – especially those of us who have the Word of God and would like to be Christians.
